1

Title IX is a civil right that prohibits sex discrimination in education.

2

Title IX applies to all students regardless of gender identity.

3

Schools may not retaliate against someone filing a complaint and must keep complainants safe from other retaliatory harassment.

4

Schools should ensure that no student has to share campus spaces (such as dorms, classes, and workplaces) with their abuser or perpetrator.

5

Schools can issue no-contact directives to prevent accused students from approaching or interacting with you.

6

Schools must be proactive in ensuring that your campus is free from sex discrimination.

7

Schools cannot discourage you from continuing your education.

8

All schools receiving federal funding, including public K-12 schools and the majority of colleges, are subject to Title IX.

9

Schools must have an established procedure for handling complaints of sexual discrimination, harassment, and violence.

Our healing attorneys work to protect the rights of survivors and keep them safe. We do this by representing survivors in student misconduct hearings and appeals, helping survivors obtain accommodations from schools (changes in scheduling, classes, and housing related to dating and sexual violence), and working with schools to ensure they are in compliance with Title IX.

Laws related to sexual discrimination, harassment, and violence in academic institutions include Title IX and other policies.
